Include honors and awards received during this service. (This requirement may be met after age 18; see below.)

AGE REQUIREMENT ELIGIBILITY

Merit badges, badges of rank, and Eagle Palms may be earned by a registered Boy Scout, Varsity Scout, or Venturer. He may earn these awards until his 18th birthday. Any Venturer who has achieved the First Class rank as a Boy Scout in a troop or Varsity Scout in a team may continue working up to his 18th birthday toward the Star, Life, and Eagle Scout ranks and Eagle Palms. An Eagle Scout board of review may occur, without special approval, within three months after the 18th birthday. Local councils must preapprove those held three to six months afterward. To initiate approval, the candidate, his parent or guardian, the unit leader, or a unit committee member attaches to the application a statement explaining the delay. Consult the Guide to Advancement in the case where a board of review is to be conducted more than six months after a candidate's 18th birthday.

If you have a permanent physical or mental disability, or a disability expected to last more than two years, or beyond age 18, you may become an Eagle Scout by qualifying for as many required merit badges as you can and qualifying for alternative merit badges for the rest. If you seek to become an Eagle Scout under this procedure, you must submit a special application to your local council service center. Your application must be approved by your council advancement committee before you can work on alternative merit badges.

A Scout or Venturer with a disability may work toward rank advancement after he is 18 years of age if he meets the guidelines outlined in the Guide to Advancement.

EAGLE BOARD OF REVIEW

As with Life rank, The Board has to judge whether the boy has the attitude and maturity to become an Eagle Scout. The Board members may compare him in their minds with the other Eagle Scouts in the Troop, or others they may know. The Eagle rank is not given lightly or automatically in any Troop. This rank is the toughest call for both a Scoutmaster and a Board of Review. An Eagle Scout not only represents himself, but the Troop, and Scouting in general. And he may soon be gone from the Troop--- will he stuff it away in a drawer, or wear it proudly? Do we sense a fine young man developing into an equally fine young adult? More than any other rank, the Board is looking for the individual inside who will uphold what it feels are the ideals of Scouting.

Length: Approximately 30 minute, although some may run longer.

Uniform: Normally, full Class A, with neckerchief and hat as options, but with appropriate insignia. A Merit Badge sash or Order of the Arrow sash is also optional, but a question could be asked why he is not wearing these important aspects of his Scout uniform. However, BSA Policy prohibits withholding the Eagle Rank for lack of an official uniform.

A good place to start is by reviewing his project. Did he think it was a good one? What was hardest about it? What would he change? Does the Board approve his project?

Ask him to tell the Board about himself.

Does he consider the Eagle Rank an honor or a responsibility?

How does he feel about Scouts now? What does he plan after Eagle?

If he is a member of the Order of the Arrow, how active is he?

What are his thoughts on the world environment? Pick a current event; ask him about it.

What would he do differently in his Scouting career if he had to do it all over again?

Why should he be given the Eagle rank? What does Eagle mean to him?

What are his activities outside of Scouting? What plans does he have in this area?

How does he feel about wearing his Scout uniform to school or in public outside of Scouting functions?

Which Merit Badges have suggested a possible career to him?

What suggestions does he have on improving the Troop program, the Troop adult leadership or patrol councils.

The Board should beware of the cocky attitude, which implies that: "I've done all the requirements, now give me my Eagle."
